About us

CIM (The Chartered Institute of Marketing) is the leading international professional marketing body. CIM exists to develop the marketing profession, maintain professional standards and improve the skills of marketing practitioners, enabling them to deliver exceptional results for their organisations.

Our range of professional qualifications and training programmes – along with our extensive membership benefits – are all designed to support you, develop your knowledge, enable your growth and increase your network. Our professional pathway will help you excel and realise your full potential.

Marketing is constantly evolving and it's important to demonstrate you have kept up-to-date with the latest developments.

Following extensive research, with marketing professionals and the wider business community, we have recently launched a portfolio of award-based qualifications to reflect the market need for flexible bite-sized learning for today's professional marketer.

Each individual module can be achieved as a distinct self-contained award and when combined with further awards, it can be built into a full qualification if and when required.

Each module is based on our unique Professional Marketing Standards, designed to help you meet the ever increasing demands expected of marketers at every stage of their career.

What does a qualification mean for you?

- Earn more
Industry remuneration studies consistently demonstrate the value of a CIM professional qualification.
- Instant credibility with employers
Study with the world's leading professional marketing body.
- A mix of theory and practice
A unique opportunity to blend practical skills with academic understanding.
- Flexible study
Modular and bite-sized learning.
- Choice over how you learn
Study face-to-face, choose distance learning or blend the two.
- The opportunity to become a Chartered Marketer
The highest accolade in the industry.

Professional Marketing Standards

The Professional Marketing Standards framework consists of marketing competencies which provide a guide to the skills and behaviours that are expected of professional marketers at varying levels of proficiency.

Developed from extensive research with employers and employees in marketing and broader business functions, the Standards give individuals and organisations the basis on which to assess the abilities of a capable and competent marketer.

Foundation Certificate in Marketing

Qualification overview

The aim of the CIM Level 3 Foundation Certificate in Marketing is to equip you with the skills, knowledge and understanding to perform professionally in a support-level marketing role. We bring learning to life through meaningful assessments which reflect the demands of the modern industry. As a result, you will develop a good understanding of the wider role of marketing and see how your practical skills can be applied to future career progression.

Designed with complete flexibility in mind

This qualification consists of two mandatory modules. However, you can choose to complete just one module and gain an award. Should you choose to continue to study and successfully complete the second module, you will achieve the full qualification.

Who is it for?

The Foundation Certificate in Marketing is aimed at those either in a job that already involves marketing or those who wish to find out about marketing with the intention of starting out on a marketing career.

Entry requirements

It is not necessary to have any previous experience or knowledge of marketing, and you can choose to study in a way that suits your requirements and availability. We do, however, ask that if English is not your first language, you provide us with evidence that you have achieved – within the past two years – either an IELTS Academic Module with an overall score of 6.5 (each component pass being at 6.0 or above) or the Cambridge Certificate of Advanced English at grade B or above. We are prepared to consider other equivalent alternatives.

Assessments

We use a combination of methods to assess the Foundation Certificate in Marketing. For the Marketing Principles module, there will be an external assessment consisting of a 90 minute online test, in which you answer 50 multiple-choice questions. In the Customer Communications module, the external assessment is a seven page scenario based assignment on a given and organisation of your choice.

Assessment methods used within the qualification are employer-driven, practitioner-based, relevant and appropriate for business needs. In addition, assessments for all qualifications comply with regulatory requirements, are fit for purpose, fair, valid, reliable and manageable to ensure confidence in the standard of learner achievement.

How long will it take to study?

Notional learning time is the amount of time expected to take, on average, to complete the learning outcomes of a module to the standard defined by the assessment criteria. This includes:

- Guided learning hours.
- Practical and work-based learning.
- Assessment preparation time.
- Assessment time.

Each module will take 80-90 hours of notional learning time.

There are three assessment sessions per year within the new CIM qualification.

To gain the Foundation Certificate in Marketing, a pass in both mandatory modules is required. However, each module can be taken as a stand-alone to gain a module award.

Foundation Certificate in Marketing

Mandatory (Marketing Principles)

As a marketer, it is important to understand a number of key concepts and be able to apply them to your business environment. This module will give you a grounding in a number of core principles.

Aims of the module

This module provides an understanding of the key concepts and terminology used in marketing. It also gives you a knowledge and understanding of the role and function of marketing within organisations and explores the factors that can influence consumer behaviour.

You will identify key components of the marketing environment and develop an appreciation of how to collect and use relevant information. The module outlines the concepts and elements which make up the marketing mix and shows you how they are applied in context.

Module structure

Three units with two learning outcomes each. Each learning outcome will be covered by the related assessment criteria (weighting indicated in brackets). By the end of this module you should be able to:

Unit 1: Discovering marketing

- Describe the role and function of marketing within organisations (15%).
- Explain the factors that influence consumer behaviour (15%).

Unit 2: The marketing environment

- Identify the key components of the marketing environment (20%).
- Know how to collect relevant information about the marketing environment (15%).

Unit 3: The marketing mix

- Describe the concept and elements of the marketing mix (20%).
- Know how the marketing mix is applied in different contextual settings (15%).

Assessment: examination

The examination will comprise 50 multiple-choice questions to be completed in a 90 minute controlled assessment.

Foundation Certificate in Marketing

Mandatory (Customer Communications)

Through this module, you will build your understanding of the importance of customer relationships and discover the way in which marketing communications can be used as a tool of engagement.

Aims of the module

This module provides an understanding of how marketing communications can be used in practice to engage with customers. It enables appreciation of the customer and considers the importance of the nature of relationships and how they are managed and monitored. You will gain knowledge and understanding of the purpose and process of marketing communications, and the range of tools available. You will also explore how to develop a successful marketing communications campaign and learn how the campaign can be put into practice.

Module structure

Three units with two learning outcomes each. Each learning outcome will be covered by the related assessment criteria (weighting indicated in brackets). By the end of this module you should:

Unit 1: Who are customers?

- Have an understanding of different types of customer (15%).
- Understand the nature and importance of customer relationships (15%).

Unit 2: Communicating with customers

- Know the purpose and process of marketing communications (10%).
- Understand the range of different marketing communications tools available (30%).

Unit 3: Creating a marketing communications campaign

- Be able to create an outline marketing communications campaign (20%).
- Be able to implement the marketing communications campaign (10%).

Assessment: assignment

You will be asked to submit a seven page assignment based on a given scenario and an organisation of choice. This assignment is broken down into three tasks.

Chartered Postgraduate Diploma in Marketing

UNIT 4: Managing Corporate Reputation

- Understand and analyse the elements and forces controlling corporate reputation.
- Develop strategies to recognise and minimise risk.

Managing Corporate Reputation

- Elective module
- Assessment by assignment

Aims of the unit

This unit explores ways in which organisations can minimise the gap between customer perception and the way it wants to be perceived. Marketers need to understand the range of forces that create and change perceptions, and how to avoid any potentially serious issues.

Unit structure

The unit is split into three parts, each with its own learning outcome. The weighting of each outcome, as part of the overall assessment, is shown in brackets below:

- Part 1: Understanding the nature and characteristics of reputational management (25%).
- Part 2: Managing the dimensions of an organisation's reputation (25%).
- Part 3: Developing effective corporate communications (50%).

Assessment: assignment

You will be asked to submit a written, practical business-based assignment.

STAGE two

A route to Chartered Status.

Aims of the unit

You will explore an emerging marketing theme and evaluate its impact on current marketing practice.

You will be expected to provide a project proposal in which you have critically evaluated current published work on the emerging marketing theme, and identified the key issues and opportunities facing the organisation or business sector.

Unit structure

Stage two will prepare you to lead the design, implementation and evaluation of a strategic business project within your own organisation or business sector.

Stage two is split into three parts, each with its own learning outcomes:

- Part 1: Defining the project.
- Part 2: Project implementation and assessment.
- Part 3: Self review and CPD.

Assessment: work-based project

You will be asked to submit a written, practical business-based assignment.

Marketing Leadership and Planning

- Assessment by work-based project

Working towards a masters or MBA?

Following completion of the Postgraduate Diploma in Marketing, there are many Masters Degrees in Marketing or MBAs which you may want to complete. Some universities offer exemptions for graduates of our Postgraduate Diploma in Marketing.

Chartered Postgraduate Diploma in Marketing Requirements and your next steps

Entry requirements

Stage one

- CIM Professional Diploma in Marketing (2003 syllabus or the 2009 syllabus) or the CIM Advanced Certificate in Marketing OR
- A business or marketing Bachelor's or Master's degree (or an equivalent qualification) where a minimum of half of the credits come from marketing (ie, 180 credits in Bachelor degrees and 90 credits in Master's degrees) AND
- A range of experience working at Senior Marketing Management level that allows potential students to evidence that they can meet the learning outcomes of the CIM Professional Diploma in Marketing if required to do so and pass the entry test for this qualification.

Stage two

- Successful completion of stage one or a previous version of the CIM Professional Postgraduate Diploma in Marketing AND
- A range of experience in a senior marketing management role that has provided potential students with ability to evidence competence in managing marketing resources and contributing to business decisions from a marketing perspective, and would be eligible for MCIM status. They should be able to evidence that they have met the learning outcomes of the Professional Postgraduate Diploma in Marketing if required to do so.

ADDITIONALLY

- Students should be in a position (preferably working) to plan, agree and implement a work-based project that is relevant to their business context.

Note: Entry level is dependent upon the currency and relevance of your qualifications and experience.

We do, however, ask that if English is not your first language, you provide us with evidence that you have achieved – within the past two years – either an IELTS Academic Module with an overall score of 6.5 (each component pass being at 6.0 or above) or the Cambridge Certificate of Advanced English at grade B or above.

Assessments

It's possible to qualify within a single academic year studying part-time. In stage one, you will be assessed across the four units using a blend of two basic methods:

- Formal examination.
- Assignments, such as coursework and case studies that require longer answers and will often be based on various findings and recommendations within your own company (or a business of your choice).

In stage two, you will need to submit a work-based project. This will be broken down into three tasks.

How long will it take to study?

Notional learning time is the amount of time we expect it to take, on average, to complete the learning outcomes of a module to the standard defined by the assessment criteria. This includes:

- Guided learning hours.
- Practical and work-based learning.
- Assessment preparation time.
- Assessment time.

Each unit within the Chartered Postgraduate Diploma requires different amount of learning time depending on the unit. However, overall we expect each stage of the qualification to take approximately 600 hours of notional learning time to complete.

Some questions answered and how you enrol

Where can I study?

We have an extensive network of Accredited Study Centres in the UK and overseas. These respected business schools, colleges and universities have all been approved and accredited to deliver CIM qualifications.

How can I study?

Face-to-face – We fully understand the time challenges of working life. Studying part-time at evening classes or weekends can help get the right balance.

Distance learning – You can study remotely, with access to tutors and important resources via phone, e-mail and web. Although you can learn at your own pace, you may miss the discipline and debate of attending a regular class.

Blended – This increasingly popular option allows you to complete your qualification through intensive online learning which is supported by prepared material, tutorials and face-to-face workshops.

What level am I at?

It is important to choose a qualification at the right level, based on your knowledge and breadth of marketing experience.

If English is not your first language, you will also need to provide evidence of achieving one of the following English language qualifications, or equivalent alternatives, within the last two years: IELTS Academic Module with overall score of 6.5 (each component pass mark must be 6.0 or above) or Cambridge Certificate of Advanced English grade B or above.

What are the costs?

All our qualifications represent a sound investment in your future and your employer may therefore be willing to sponsor you.

The costs depend on the course, the mode of study and the Accredited Study Centre. Some study centres may bundle costs together, where you should expect to pay for tuition fees, study materials, assessment fees and CIM membership.

Costs for tuition will vary depending on your chosen study centre, so it is worth contacting a few to compare prices, find out what is included and the levels of support offered.

Existing university marketing degree graduates

We partner with leading UK universities to match the content of their marketing degree courses against CIM qualifications to assess where we can award exemptions. This means that current and past students at eligible universities can gain CIM qualifications without having to do all the usual assessments.

Yet to finish a CIM qualification?

If you have started a CIM qualification, you may be eligible to transfer to the new qualifications. Contact CIM about transition options.

Continuing professional development (CPD)

Continuing professional development (CPD) is essential to your continued effectiveness as a professional marketer. At CIM, we're committed to supporting you throughout your career and ensuring that you have the tools to develop in line with industry needs.

Our Chartered CPD Programme provides a focused and logical way for you to keep learning as your career progresses. It benchmarks your skills against our Professional Marketing Standards framework, enables you to identify any gaps in your knowledge and directs you to a range of activities to help overcome them.

Simply record all the learning and development activities that you undertake over the year; whether completed with us, through other organisations, or even things you've done on your own.

Your CPD journey can lead to achieving Chartered Marketer status - the mark of an up-to-date, experienced and qualified marketing professional.
